

INVITATION

Dear Colleagues and Friends,

The Research Centre for the Humanities, Hungarian Academy of Sciences (RCH, HAS) has recently joined the Refo500 project to be an active partner, after having signed a contract on the 27th of May, 2012. Consequently, the RCH, HAS decided to commence its activity as Refo500 partner by organizing a workshop during which the research plans and projects shall be introduced and promoted as well. Therefore, the agenda of the meeting taking place on the 28th of November 2012 comprises two major events:

1. Launching of the research project entitled, Reformation and the Hungarian Culture of Migration: Five Centuries of Survival of Reformed Hungarians all over the World.
2. A workshop reflecting on the disparate methodologies and interpretations of European Reformation, entitled: Interpreting Reformation(s): the Use of Competing Theories and Comparative Approaches.

We cordially invite you to attend the event.

Dr. Pál Fodor,
General Director, RCH, HAS
Head of Organizing Committee

Dr. Pál Ács
Organizer, RCH, HAS

Dr. Zsombor Tóth
Organizer, RCH, HAS

PROGRAM

Project Launching Event and Workshop, Interpreting Reformation(s): the Use of Competing Theories and Comparative Approaches

28. 11. 2012

Institute of History, Research Centre for the Humanities,
Hungarian Academy of Sciences
1014 Budapest, Úri u. 53., Room 224.

- 10.00–10.10 Opening of the Workshop:
Pál Fodor, general director of RCH, HAS
- 10.10–10.30 Presentation of the Projects and Research Agenda of RCH, HAS
Zsombor Tóth, Contact Person for Refo500

Session I.:

- Chair: Pál Ács (Institute for Literary Studies, RCH, HAS, Budapest)
- 10.30–11.10 Herman Selderhuis (Theological University of the Christian Reformed Churches, Apeldoorn; Refo500): The Return of Confessionalism: Loss, Gain or Challenge?
- 11.10–11.40 Mihály Balázs (University of Szeged): Über die zwei Typen des Antitrinitarismus in Ostmitteleuropa der frühen Neuzeit
- 11.40–12.10 Piotr Wilczek (University of Warsaw; Refo500): Eastern Europe meets Western Europe: the Reformation Historiography Revisited (the case of Polish Unitarianism)
- 12.10–12.40. Katalin Péter (Institute of History, RCH, HAS, Budapest): That a Christian Congregation has the Right to Judge
- 12.40–13.10 Réka Kiss (Institute of Ethnology, RCH, HAS, Budapest): Religious Norms and Everyday Practice: A Case Study on the Early Modern Reformed Church Discipline
- 13.10–13.40 Debate
- 13.40–14.40 Lunch Break

Session II.:

- Chair: Katalin Péter (Institute of History, RCH, HAS, Budapest)
- 14.40–15.10 Gábor Tüskés (Institute for Literary Studies, RCH, HAS, Budapest): Erzählliteratur und Reformation. Schwerpunkte einer interdisziplinären Forschungsdiskussion
- 15.10–15.40 Zoltán Csepregi (Evangelical-Lutheran Theological University, Budapest): Die Problematik „Mehrsprachigkeit, muttersprachliche Identität, Übersetzung“ in der ungarischen Reformation
- 15.40–16.10 Natalia Nowakowska (Faculty of History, University of Oxford): Jagiellonian Poland, Luther and the Early Reformation: Questions and Comparisons
- 16.10–16.40 Gabriella Erdélyi (Institute of History, RCH, HAS, Budapest): Letters to the Antichrist: Papal Pardons and the Reformation
- 16.40–17.00 Debate
- 17.00 Closing of the Conference and Concluding Remarks